Paris, 9 June 2021 - Mediation as an alternative method of resolving disputes, you've heard of it ... maybe you have already inquired ... but from there to proposing one or accepting one....

You are right to ask yourself questions because accepting or offering mediation means taking risks:

- ⦿ the "risk" of quickly settling a dispute (potential or actual) and in complete confidentiality;
- ⦿ the "risk" of resolving a dispute while avoiding the hazard and costs of legal proceedings;
- ⦿ the "risk" of being satisfied with an amicable outcome;
- ⦿ the "risk" of then saying to yourself "but why didn't I think about it sooner?" "

Mediation is a structured process available to any person (natural or legal) wishing to put an end to an uncomfortable, tense, or even untenable situation.

To give yourself a chance to find a solution to a dispute, resorting to mediation means choosing simplicity, speed and confidentiality, whatever the outcome.

Choosing mediation is giving yourself real chances to get out of a deadlock, it is giving yourself the means to find common ground under good conditions, so it is quite the opposite of a decision by default, it's a real strategic choice!

Are you wondering if your case would lend itself to mediation? Do you have questions? Regimbeau has a reactive team of trained and experienced mediators at your disposal for any additional information.
